forum of trends in software development

Mateo Nieto Hoyos

Carlos Mario Medina

In the forum the guests communicated their disagreements regarding the clarifications of the experts of which they commented that in Colombia good software is not developed and that there are no systems engineers and that therefore it is necessary to hire people from other countries such as the India. a student said that it is the companies' fault since they do not pay well and that he does not let the engineers be more creative but that they feel and tell him to do this, period, on the other hand the companies from other countries lend themselves to the development better.

the experts say that the students are not getting well pre-prepared from the university that they lack a stage of practices, one of the experts even one of the experts said that his company could serve for the students of 3 4 semester so they can sbaer as is the labor methodology and can adapt to this and have more work experience The importance of work experience. It is considered a fundamental requirement if you are looking from the beginning to take you into account for a possible job vacancy. At present, it is essential to have work experience, when they want to have people for certain specific occupations